Use digital technologies

Online tools provide additional practice and enable students to work at their own pace.

To supplement explicit instruction, select computer-based learning programs that enable repetition, are visual, provide immediate feedback, and are hands-on.

Provide all students with access to tools that:

- support collaboration and timely feedback, such as Google Docs
- can be customised to meet their individual needs and preferences
- provide for repetition and allow students to revisit them as often as necessary.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.