

Changes to expression

After children and young people have sustained a brain injury, they may express themselves differently.

- ✓ Speaking without thinking first.
- ✓ Jumping from topic to topic when talking.
- ✓ Talking less and appearing withdrawn.
- ✓ Dominating conversations – talking more and not listening to others.
- ✓ Missing things that are said or “getting the wrong end of the stick”.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.
