Suggestions for working with parents and whānau

- ✓ Regularly communicate positive information and achievements to parents and whānau.
- ✓ With Māori whānau, develop a shared understanding of tikanga (cultural practices), such as language, customs, obligations, traditions.
- ✓ Promote regular kanohi ki te kanohi, face-to-face contact to reinforce strong communication and engagement with parents and whānau right from the start.
- Communicate and share information in a meaningful way, demonstrating understanding and support for parent and whānau concerns.
- ✓ Value what parents, caregivers, family, and whānau have noticed or assessments they have had done outside school.
- ✓ Involve parents, families, and whānau in determining strategies to support student learning and well-being.
- Ask about and work with any programmes or materials being used at home to maximise consistency and support for the student.
- ✓ Develop systems for passing on information about a student's needs, progress, and next steps, in ways that are meaningful.
- ✔ Hold discussions in environments where families feel safe, and that support their identity and connections e.g. a whānau space, marae, church or community center.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.

