

What to include in a learner profile

The purpose of a learner profile can be agreed by the student, their whānau, and the teacher.

Depending on its purpose, a useful profile (whether an official document or simply inquiry on your part) can include:

- important people
- cultural connections and experiences
- languages spoken
- things the student is good at
- memorable life experiences
- how they like to unwind and relax
- likes and interests
- dislikes and things they avoid
- how they like to learn and what helps
- things that make it hard for them to learn
- what they do when they need help.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education's website "Inclusive Education". Except where otherwise noted it is Crown Copyright 2018.

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated so we recommend you check the website version of this information to ensure it remains current.

---

