

Inclusive Education

From

Guide: Universal Design for Learning

Strategy: Design considerations in secondary settings

Suggestion: Match teaching methods to student preferences

Date

20 January 2019

Link

www.inclusive.tki.org.nz/guides/universal-design-for-learning/match-teaching-methods-to-student-preferences

Offer online options

Noelene Dunn uses Google sites to provide her students with learning pathways and content they can personalise to suit preferences.

This information was downloaded/printed from the Ministry of Education website. Crown Copyright 2018.

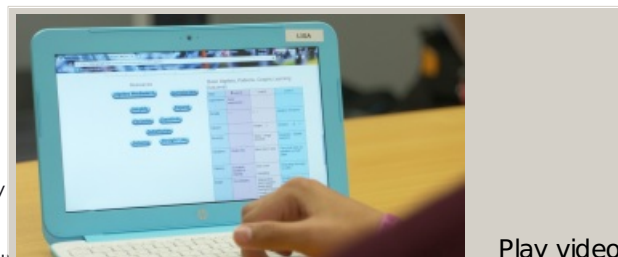

Information on the Inclusive Education website is regularly updated to ensure it remains current.

Source: Enabling e-Learning \(NZ\) Closed Captions

Source:

Enabling e-Learning \(NZ\)

<http://elearning.tki.org.nz/Teaching/Learner-agency/Digital-technologies-in-senior-secondary-school/Flexible-learning-using-Google-sites>

Video hosted on Vimeo <http://vimeo.com/177635737>

